Mariannhill Monastery

The Trappist prior Father Francis (Wendolin) Pfanner founded a monastery during the Christmas season of 1882 in the English colony of Natal in South Africa. He called it Mary-Anne-Hill (Mariannhill). Born in 1825 at Langen in the Austrian Vorarlberg, this energetic son of a farmer received necessary experience by founding Mariastern in the then Turkish Bosnia. A forceful speaker and writer, he inspired many young people to adopt an austere lifestyle.

A great problem was the conflict between mission activity and the Trappist rule, with its long prayers in choir, partly at night, its absolute silence and rigorous fasting. The conflict became so acute under his successors that the Trappist's saw the dismissing of its greatest abbey from the order as the only solution. Pope Pius X made the separation in February of 1909, and so the Monastery was called the 'Congregation of Mariannhill Missionaries'.

Tours of the stunning buildings and museum can be arranged by appointment on +27 31 700 4288.
